Which is the best vector software when you create a vector drawing of a design that needs to be sent to someone for printing? I want to ensure that I have the best output. ThanksQ: Swift 3 Update existing build on Github I have a working project on a git repo called TestApp. I have added all the build architectures I will need with Carthage - building both the WatchOS and iOS architectures. I was reading about the new automated Build Scenarios feature and it seems nice. The question is, when I commit a change to the testapp repo, is there a way to merge/version my code into my xcode-project and also trigger the new automated build to build the new architectures (especially the watch). By doing so, the release version of TestApp is also improved/moved to the new XCode project b7e8fdf5c8
